

CONFUSION LOG

Fill this in yourself, week by week -- this is YOUR gaps, not mine

Every time you get something wrong on a Quiz Bank question, a Practice Final item, or a prep-cold attempt before reading -- log it here in one line. Don't log everything you find hard; log what you actually got wrong or guessed on. By Week 9 this page (not the 55-page Study Guide) is your fastest, most personalized review document, because every line on it is something that's already proven it can trip you up.

HOW TO FILL IN EACH COLUMN

Week / Source

Which week's material, and where you hit it (Quiz Bank Q#, Practice Final, prep-cold attempt).

What I missed

The specific fact, not the whole topic. Not "Luo points" -- "forgot SP21 is the Great Luo, not a 13th regular Luo point."

Why I missed it

Your own diagnosis. Confused with something similar? Never actually reviewed it? Right idea, wrong point? This column is where the real learning happens -- be honest, not just accurate.

Status

Still shaky / Improving / Resolved. Update this as you re-test the same item -- watching this column fill up with "Resolved" is the expectancy-building part.
