

Study priority order -- drill Level A first, C last (pilot of the A/B/C tiering framework)

Per the ChatGPT study-system conversation: don't try to know everything equally. This page groups this week's special-point categories by study priority so you know what to blank-page first vs. layer in later. Content below is identical to the existing decoder -- only the tier tags are new.

A

LEVEL A — must be automatic

- Yuan-Source
- Luo-Connecting

B

LEVEL B — strong retrieval

- He-Sea
- Xi-Cleft
- Front-Mu
- Back-Shu
- Confluent
- Hui-Meeting (Influential)

C

LEVEL C — add after A+B

- Jing-Well
- Ying-Spring
- Shu-Stream
- Jing-River
- Crossing Points
- Command Points
- Lower He-Sea

Tier logic: A = the two categories most central to both diagnosis and treatment-point selection (drill these until automatic). B = categories tested regularly and clinically load-bearing. C = five-shu granularity, crossing-point trivia, and reference-only categories -- correct, but lowest yield per minute of study time.

All special point categories · examples drawn from PC, SJ, GB, LR (Week 6) · sorted by tier

A	YUAN-SOURCE	Where the Source (Yuan) Qi of the channel/organ is accessed. Primary diagnostic + treatment point for the Zang/Fu. This week's examples: PC7 Daling, SJ4 Yangchi, GB40 Qiuxu, LR3 Taichong
A	LUO-CONNECTING	Where a channel's Luo-vessel branches to its paired channel. Treats psycho-emotional issues + disorders on the paired channel. This week's examples: PC6 Neiguan, SJ5 Waiguan, GB37 Guangming, LR5 Ligou
B	HE-SEA	At elbow/knee. Treats counterflow Qi, diarrhea, and organ-level disorders of the associated Zang/Fu. This week's examples: PC3 Quze, SJ10 Tianjing, GB34 Yanglingquan (also Hui-Meeting Sinews), LR8 Ququan
B	XI-CLEFT	Cleft point where Qi/Blood gather deeply. Used for ACUTE conditions/pain of the channel or organ. This week's examples: PC4 Ximen, SJ7 Huizong, GB36 Waiqiu, LR6 Zhongdu
B	FRONT-MU	On the chest/abdomen; where the Qi of a Zang/Fu organ gathers. Used diagnostically (palpation) and therapeutically. This week's examples: PC = CV17 Danzhong, SJ = CV5 Shimen, GB = GB24 Riyue, LR = LR14 Qimen (note: LR13 Zhangmen is Front-Mu of SPLEEN, not Liver -- classic mix-up)
B	BACK-SHU	On the Bladder channel, 1.5 cun lateral to the spine. Transport points for each Zang/Fu's Qi. This week's examples: PC = BL14 Jueyinshu, SJ = BL22 Sanjiaoshu, GB = BL19 Danshu, LR = BL18 Ganshu
B	CONFLUENT	Opens one of the 8 Extraordinary Vessels; 8 points total, paired across upper/lower body. This week's examples: SJ5 Waiguan opens Yang Wei Mai (pairs GB41); GB41 Zulinqi opens Dai Mai (pairs SJ5) -- BOTH new this week, PC/LR have no confluent point this week
B	HUI-MEETING (INFLUENTIAL)	8 points, each the 'meeting place' of Qi for a tissue/substance category (Zang, Fu, Qi, Blood, Sinews, Vessels, Marrow, Bones). This week's examples: GB34 = Hui-Meeting of SINEWS/TENDONS; LR13 Zhangmen = Hui-Meeting of ZANG (all 5 solid organs) + also Front-Mu of Spleen
C	JING-WELL	1st/last point of each channel (start of Yin channels, end of Yang). Clears heat, restores consciousness -- emergency/resuscitation use. This week's examples: PC9 Zhongchong (last, PC), SJ1 Guanchong (first, SJ), GB44 Zuqiaoyin (last, GB), LR1 Dadun (first, LR)
C	YING-SPRING	2nd point on each channel. Clears heat in the body, used for febrile disease. This week's examples: PC8 Laogong, SJ2 Yemen, LR2 Xingjian

(continued)

C	SHU-STREAM	3rd point (also Yuan-Source on Yin channels). Treats heaviness, joint pain, intermittent disorders. This week's examples: PC7 Daling (=Yuan), SJ3 Zhongzhu, GB41 Zulinqi (=Confluent), LR3 Taichong (=Yuan)
C	JING-RIVER	4th point. Treats cough, dyspnea, throat disorders, chills & fever. This week's examples: PC5 Jianshi, SJ6 Zhigou, LR4 Zhongfeng
C	CROSSING POINTS	A point on one channel that is also crossed by one or more OTHER channels' pathways. This week's examples: PC + LR: ZERO/minimal crossing points this week (PC has none). SJ + GB: extensive overlap around the head/ear/shoulder (both Shaoyang channels) -- GB's exact count is flagged/unresolved pending Dr. Zhang
C	COMMAND POINTS	4 master points: abdomen (ST36), back/lumbar (BL40 Weizhong), head/face (LI4), face (LI4 shared). Not introduced fresh this week but relevant when combining with PC/SJ/GB/LR points for full-body treatment plans. This week's examples: No new Command points this week -- reference only
C	LOWER HE-SEA	Special He-Sea points for the 6 Fu organs, located on the leg (used even for Fu organs whose main channel is on the arm). This week's examples: SJ's Lower He-Sea is BL39 Weiyang (NOT on the SJ channel itself) -- exam trap identical in structure to LI/SI/ST's lower he-sea points from earlier weeks; GB's Lower He-Sea is its own He-Sea, GB34